

PRESS RELEASE

Thessaloniki, February 2015

IN MEMORY

As from February 20th EODH lost its Founder and Father.

A great loss for EODH an enormous loss for the Defense Industry and a major loss for the Protection Science Community.

Ulf Deisenroth was a legend even before passing away and needs no mourning. A great man, a dearest friend, a distinguished scientist and innovator, Always years ahead of everybody in his field of expertise. Highly respected by all German and Global Defense community. He was overwhelmingly and rightly accepted as “the Patriarch of Survivability Technologies”.

EODH, founded personally by him more than a decade ago in implementing a strategic vision with open horizons and out of great respect for Greece and its people, has no alternative but:

...following his footsteps and road map, based on our Licenses and Signed Agreements, Technical Knowledge and Innovative Solutions including our battle proved track record for more than ten years, to guarantee the continuation of his success and to commit that we are determined to carry the torch further. This is a promise of honor to our Father and Founder and to all our valuable Customers.
